Dear Friends

For any who are under the illusion that people in Spain walk around all year in shorts and flip-flops due to the scorching temperature, we have just begun to get frost on the cars in the morning, and the central heating boiler is being repaired in preparation for the cold winter evenings. We live over 2000 ft above sea level, and see temperatures as low as -10°C some nights.

Thomas finished his two month's supply teaching post at the end of October, and has just started a month's supply in a small village about forty minute's drive away. Liz is still looking for work.

Jacob was having some discomfort recently, with his Crohn's. After seeing the results of tests the doctors have put him on steroids (again!) and are in the process of increasing the dosage of his regular medication, as well as putting him on a course of iron tablets. Please pray that this will sort him out as he is due to travel to various European cities for work next week and his health needs to be in good shape to be away from home.

We continue to be involved at church, with the music, and Judith teaching Sunday School. Matt isn't visiting Cuenca to preach at the moment, in an attempt to do a little less and so help with his stress levels, but we can continue to pray for the very small group there that the Lord would sustain and bless them.

The church building situation in Ciudad Real continues to drag on, although on a positive note, the revised plans (forced upon us following the council's rejection of the original idea) will give us an extra storey, so in actual fact larger premises. How amazing is the providence of God!

At Editorial Peregrino we have just published The Bible Book by Book (Roger Ellsworth) and Getting Back in the Race (Joel Beeke) and we have Jonathan Edwards' daily devotional book A Journey Toward Heaven in the printers.

Thank you so much for your continued prayerful interest.

In Him

Matt, Judith, Jacob, Thomas and Liz
